To whom it may concern:

Please accept this as a letter of recommendation for MVP Sports Media Training and the services it provides.

Andretti Green contracted with MVP prior to the start of the 2009 IndyCar Series season and asked for its help with the team's four drivers and three owners. Although faced with a large, diverse group, MVP worked efficiently and effectively under a tight timeline to provide good insight and constructive feedback to those involved.

MVP's trainers were well prepared and posed very specific challenges to our participants that spoke to exact topics and questions we faced in the months that followed. It was obvious they were there to train us in our environment and did not ask us to deal in generalities that would have to be applied later. Again, with limited time to work, MVP made the most of the session and sent our personnel into the season with tangible training and effective tools.

I would not hesitate to contract with MVP again and hope to have that opportunity again soon.

Sincerely,

Al Larsen
Director of Media and Promotions
Andretti Green
